The Coordinator,
OLPCorps AFRICA

RE: OLPCorps CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY SAN BERNARDINO NIGERIA TEAM: XO KIDDIES VISION 6-12.

This is a great proposal to assist third world countries. If the above referenced team is accepted, the Global Integrated Education Volunteers Association (GIEVA) Nigeria is willing to support and assist the project technically, financially, and staff-wise in order to maintain its sustainability after the summer and beyond.

GIEVA has the capacity to handle a 230 kg package of laptops and equipment. During the deployment, the laptops and equipment will be stored in the organization's secure store facility.

GIEVA is a grass-root educational empowerment non-governmental organization established to prepare and stimulate curiosity of young children to openly and individually learn and learn about learning.

GIEVA's CHOICES Club being launched both in elementary and junior secondary schools is an out-reach program to address the challenge of generating interest in children between the ages of 6 -12 years to learn to volunteer to serve humanity. Moreover, the program is set up to stimulate their curiosity to learn through computer technology. This launching has already generated more than 100 student club members between the ages of six and twelve.

Recognizing the need, GIEVA established a free and easy access to an online educational learning facility at its technology-learning center since 2008. It is also planned to establish at each club site a technology-learning center. It is envisaged that it would evolve a healthy competition among club groups and individuals in the use of computer technology in learning.
